

AFFORDABILITY AND CONVENIENCE

Our research has revealed that many workplaces and education campuses throughout Victoria don't have access to affordable, nutritious lunch options. In numerous instances, there is a single café or vending machine with limited and expensive food choices on offer or the nearest food outlet is inconvenient due to location.

With the average cost of a freshly prepared take-away meal being between $12 - $20, it's simply out of reach for many people and these issues combined are ultimately having a negative impact on the health, wellbeing, and productivity of those who work/study in these locations.

'Certain cohorts consider lunch their primary meal of the day'*

'Students are skipping meals to save money'
